DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This is an L-shaped frame house, consisting of a larger gabled portion to the rear and a two bay gabled wing on the front projecting toward the street. In the peak of this gabled wing, and also in the gables on the sides of the house, is a triangular bargeboard with tracery. Opposite the gabled wing are two bays on the front of the house. An L-shaped porch extends across these two bays and around the east side. It is supported by Doric columns. Part of this porch, toward the rear on the east side, has been fully enclosed. The original German siding has not been replaced.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is a vernacular style house that dates to sometime around the turn of the 20th century. Although not particularly significant in itself, it contributes to the character of Locust Street which possesses many large late 19th and early 20th century houses, built during a period when Cambridge was expanding rapidly. As a group these houses reflect the type of homes lived by the middle class during this era, although some are fairly plain and others more ornate.
